President Roosevelt is great in peace as well as in war.

That separate statehood convention at the court house Saturday afternoon was even more of a failure than we expected. The fact is the people as a whole are intelligent enough to realize that one state is soon to be made out of the two territories, and that the separate state movement is the height of folly. The personnel of the delegation is enough to condemn it.

The president is a man of prayer. He does not parade the fact, but he does not evade the duty to act his natural Christian character when occasion calls. That is an interesting story which comes from a little railway station west of Pittsburg at the time Secretary Hay was buried. On that day, ten miles from human habitation and in the heart of a wooded country, President Roosevelt, surrounded by the members of his cabinet, remembered John Hay in his prayers. The scene was Wheelock's switch, a siding on the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad. The presidential train left Cleveland shortly after-noon Wednesday and the party had not had time to eat anything at mid-day. When Wheelock's switch was reached it was announced that the train would have to wait for a few minutes. The president asked that the luncheon be eaten in the dense forest which bordered the siding on the west. A clearing was found in the woods and there a cloth was spread on the grass. Before beginning the meal the president asked a blessing on the simple meal, in accordance with his usual custom. After he had said grace he made his prayer for John Hay. He prayed, not for the security of his soul, for its destiny had already been decided and concerning it there was no doubt. He prayed rather that the character of that pure Christian statesman might be perpetuated among the generation that honored him and among generations that are to come. The fact that our president is a man who prays, and that the larger number of his cabinet as well as those in responsible positions in all branches of government service, are generally men of Christian life should make a deep impression upon the young men and boys of America. The Christian man is more likely than any other to be respected and honored and trusted with great responsibility.

Where Happiness is Found.

Don't look for true happiness in the mansions of the very rich, where high priced physicians are called in to doctor every ailment. But seek it and find it too, in the comfortable homes of the middle-classes and so called poor where Greens August Flower is always used to keep the family healthy—to cure all stomach troubles, whether indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, bilious attacks or torpid liver. Trial bottle August Flower, 25c. Big bottle, 75c. Wimer Drug Co.

A Good Night's Rest

The greatest tonic on earth is a good night's rest. Restless nights and the terrible exhaustion of a hacking cough are dread dangers of the poor consumptive. But why this fear of the night when a few doses of Dr. Boshee's German Syrup will insure refreshing sleep, entirely free from cough or night sweat? Free expectation in the morning is made certain by taking German Syrup. It has cured consumption for forty years. Trial bottle, 25c. Big bottles, 75c. At Wimer Drug store. dw

ARE CALLED CAVE-DWELLERS

Old-Fashioned Customs Still Prevail Under Peculiar Name at Washington.

A few only of the old customs survive, says Alonso's Magazine. We still sit on the front steps when the weather permits. Our carriages are still drawn up in front of the markets on certain days of the week. Our girls still continue to think it is entirely proper for them to walk through the public streets and to the theater without head covering. We still persist in believing in the primitive character and potency of the picnic and other bucolic diversions. We still dine in the middle of the day on Sunday. After that you will not be surprised to hear that our new-fangled friends who prefer tea and bridge to poker and mint julep call these good people, derisively, "cave dwellers." "Cave dwellers," "troglodytes," or by whatever name this element in Washington society may be called by the ultra-fashionables, it cannot be denied that it furnishes an important support to the social framework. The fashionable element comes to-day and is gone tomorrow. The "cave dweller" remains. He is, naturally, an old resident of the place.

FINDS AN AGED BANDIT.

A London Journalist Interviews Famous Servian Desperado Who Is Now 117 Years Old.

A London journalist has just interviewed the famous Servian bandit, Stoyan Zikitsch, who is claimed to be 117 years old. The old fellow wears heavy clothes the year round; drinks about three-quarters of a liter of brandy a day, and affirms that in his youth he drank 12 liters of wine a day without any harmful consequences. But he has never taken coffee or a smoke. Early in life, while in Greece, he knew Lord Byron, and is proud of telling of the "curly-headed Englishman." Zikitsch has twice been married and has four daughters. He boasts that he has never worked in his life. "All that I can yield is the gun and the dagger, and, thank God, I have earned enough by them to live comfortably now," he shouted after his interviewer, as the latter was leaving.

City Folks in the Country.

It is a fact that when the city man and boy take a vacation from their toil and the city woman and girl from their home duties they generally want to take what Dr. Adler calls an ethical vacation too. The country people know and feel this and some of their most conscientious people resent it. They object that city people, let loose in the country, do things which they would not do at home. Hatless and coatless, city girls who are careful of their conduct at home, sit saucily on the counter of the mountain grocery store and thump their heels against its boards. What an example to the rising generation in Mountainville!—N. Y.

Ingenuity of Japs.

Japanese soldiers along the Sha river have shown their ingenuity in the utilization of an oversupply of rats. The rodents became a pest and the soldiers set to work to destroy them. Though destroyed, the rats were not wasted. The soldiers cured the rat skins and used them for ear-flaps, with the tails tied beneath the wearers' chins.

GIFTS FOR CHRISTENINGS.

Queen Alexandra, When a Godmother, Bestows Presents of Pearls and Diamonds.

Much more is made in England of christenings than here. Nowadays the English make a social function of what formerly was a purely religious affair; there is a large gathering at the church where the ceremony is performed, and this is followed by a reception at the home of the child's parents. The number of sponsors is no longer restricted to two godfathers and one godmother for a boy and one godfather for a girl, but four and even six sponsors appear. Queen Alexandra is often a godmother, and her gift to her godchild is generally a pearl and diamond pendant. Other godmothers are giving valuable lace or jewels, but sometimes give money instead, the sums varying from $250 to $25,000. The nurse always receives from them a note varying from five dollars to $100, or a bit of handsome jewelry. The reception following the ceremony is a white function so far as decorations and the gown of the child's mother go. The baby itself is always beautifully dressed in a slip of white satin or silk, over which is drawn a robe of rich lace. Bridal veils are often draped over the slip instead of a regular robe. Lord and Lady Castlereagh's children were christened in an Irish lace robe, the work of the lace-makers on their Irish estate, Mount Stewart. Lady Dudley had her first child christened draped in the bridal veil she wore at her wedding.

BLOOD WILL TELL.

It takes lots of vitality, nervous force and strength to win a race. Blood must be pure and good.

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anemia, is common in men and young women, and all those who work indoors, who do not get enough good oxygen in their lungs, consequently have too many white blood corpuscles.

Keep the nerves nourished, the heart strong, the head cool, the stomach vigorous, the liver active with a tonic which has stood the test of time and has a wide reputation, such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Tonics consisting of large portions of alcohol, iron or cod-liver oil, do not bring the desired changes in the blood, because they do not enter the system and are not absorbed into the blood, with the exception of the alcohol, which shrinks up the red blood corpuscles when it does come in contact with them. Therefore do not allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by telling you he has something better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

For cost of mailing only. "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," each large pages, is sent free on receipt of twenty-one-cent stamps, for the paper-covered book, or thirty-one stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. H. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure. No other pill can compare with them.
